

Holiday Poems

“A Holiday Declaration”

To have a wonderful holiday you will need:

A roomful of family

A tableful of food

Enough to feed a zoo

Music so loud it wakes the neighbors

Carolers on Christmas

Entertaining you while you do favors

Light so bright it will

Be the shine of your night

A house that has a bit of chaos

And a dash of love

A car full of gifts that go under the tree

Enough happiness that you feel free

Combine it all together

Add a dash of nostalgia

A dash of celebration

This is a holiday declaration.

Warner Girls' Leadership Academy

6th - 8th Grade Team

INSPIRED

ART

What moves you?

“Holiday Beat”

Halloween is movie night
We dress up and have a good fright

I carve a pumpkin
With a spooky grin

I put on my costume
There's a haunted house with haunted rooms

I knock on the door and then they greet
You get a trick or you get a treat

Some people go to church on Christmas day
Others stay home with families to pray

When I lie in my bed
I dream I'm on a sled

You can get or give a present
It doesn't matter how much you spent

Snowmen and angels, I love to play in the snow
We love Christmas, ho ho ho.

“Holidays”

Holidays, holidays, holidays,
Halloween is frightening, may be some lightening,
Scary skeletons, vicious vampires, whimpering werewolves,
Wonderful witches.

Holidays, holidays, holidays,
Cheerful jollies during Christmas.
Tasty, hot chocolate with marshmallows
Lovely decorations and Christmas songs.

Holidays, holidays, holidays,
Love filled the air,
Date nights full of love,
Chocolates, food and wine.
Valentines day!

Holidays, holidays, holidays,
Yummy food that isn't done until 7 pm,
Turkey, ham, candy yams, collard greens, dressing,
Surrounded by family and friends
Thanksgiving.

Holidays, holidays, holidays.

Nyla - 7th Grade -
Warner Girls Leadership Academy

“Christmas”

On Christmas Eve, we go to sleep
We are so happy we can leap
It is cold on a winter's day
Santa brought us toys to play
We made a gingerbread house
Big enough for a mouse
Elf on the shelf, eyes in the tree
Everybody looks for him except for me
We found the elf and gave him a cheer
Christmas is the best time of the year!

Artemus Ward- 1st - 2nd grade Team